Notes for competitors

- The large crags are dangerous. Do not attempt to go up or down them (without a rope).
- The sides of Backstone Beck, the main N-S river are steep and awkward to cross. Best to use the paths.
- Almost all of the lower slopes of the moor are covered in bracken. This would normally be shown as undergrowth - walk or fight. It has been left unmarked for clarity. Stick to the paths. The upper slope is mostly heather. This is undergrowth - walk. It's probably better to stick to the paths here as well.
- There are many unmarked paths.
